

GALESBURG FLOOD DAMAGE MAY REACH MILLION

Sen. Wm. McKinley Reported Near Death

EIGHT INCHES OF RAIN FELL IN THE NIGHT

Railroads, Stores and Residences Suffer in Cloudburst

DOCTOR HOLDS NO HOPE FOR HIS PATIENT

Says Life May Continue Throughout the Day and Night

Martinsville, Ind., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Some improvement in the condition of Senator William B. McKinley of Illinois who is critically ill here, was reported today by his physician Dr. R. H. Egbert.

Dr. Egbert said Senator McKinley was much better this morning after resting quietly last night, but he held out no hope for recovery of the Illinois senator. Senator McKinley was conscious, the physician said, and life might continue throughout the day.

The senator, semi-conscious through the night, regained consciousness today. When his secretary C. A. Willoughby entered the sick chamber, Senator McKinley remarked:

"Well, my little friend how are you this morning."

These are the only words he had spoken in the past thirty six hours.

Heart Action Better.

Sensor McKinley's heart action was greatly improved today and his breathing was more regular. A bulletin gave his temperature 100; pulse 112 and respiration 28.

The senator was brought to the Home Lawn Sanitarium here from Washington about two weeks ago, suffering from neuritis and sciatic rheumatism.

Last week he developed a congested condition of the lung which grew gradually worse until last night he was in a semi-conscious condition, and sinking slowly, according to his physician, Dr. R. H. Egbert, who said there was little chance for improvement so long as he was unable to take nourishment.

Three nurses are in attendance on the stricken senator and relatives from Illinois and Washington have gathered at his bedside. Among those here are Mrs. Ross Mattis, a sister, George M. Mattis, a nephew and Mrs. S. A. Power, a cousin, all of Champaign, Ill.

K. C. NOT AFTER INTERVENTION IN MEXICAN DISPUTE

President Told Order Only Desires U. S. Use Offices

Paul Smith's, N. Y., Sept. 1.—(AP)—President Coolidge was told today by James A. Flaherty, Supreme Knight of the Knights of Columbus, that that order does not ask intervention by the United States in Mexico.

The order, said Mr. Flaherty, who was accompanied by members of his supreme council, does not even ask the lifting of the embargo on arms shipments to Mexico. Instead, he made clear, it desires only the exercise of whatever good offices the United States can extend under international law to ameliorate conditions in the southern republic where Catholic churchmen are engaged in a religious dispute with President Calles.

Conditions in Mexico at this time were ascribed by Mr. Flaherty to policies of the past three American administrations. Mr. Coolidge, who has pursued a policy of "hands off" in the religious controversy, was said to have listened "kindly and patiently" to the delegation, who were later photographed with him at the executive offices.

SLAYER OF AGED FARMER IS SANE, PHYSICIAN SAYS

Sparr Examined as a Step to Prevent an Insanity Plea

Vandalia, Ill., Sept. 1.—(AP)—The several versions Frank Sparr has given of his slaying of Peter Rosenberg, Assumption land owner in the judgment of a physician for the state, are all the products of a sane mind.

At the instance of the state's attorney, Dr. G. L. Armstrong of Taylorville, Ill., subjected the farm hand to a sanity test and returned a positive verdict.

The step was taken, it was indicated, to forestall any defense move to change to one of insanity. Sparr's plea of guilty to the murder of the wealthy employer.

Mental examination of the prisoner followed a long session which led him to retract his charge made Monday night that William Vooters had aided in the crime.

A justice of the peace of Pana, Ill., identified Sparr as the man who came to his office and obtained a bill of sale to the farm by representing himself as Rosenberg. Sparr exhibited a bill of sale in taking over the property shortly after the disappearance of the original owner whose body was later found.

SENATE RESERVATIONS TO WORLD COURT MEET FIGHT IN MEETING OF MEMBERS

Canada and Jugo-Slav-ia Lead Objections to U. S. Provisos

Geneva, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The first three of the reservations specified by the United States Senate as necessary conditions for American adherence to the permanent court of international justice were approved in quick order at the first session today of representatives of states member of the court.

Opposition unexpectedly developed to that part of the fourth reservation declaring that the statutes of the court shall not be amended without the consent of the United States. Adjournment until afternoon came before debate on this section was completed.

The objections to reservation number 4 were voiced by Sir George Foster of Canada, supported by the Jugo-Slavian delegate, M. Markovitch. Sir George held that the reservation would prevent members of the league from ever amending the court statutes without American permission, regardless of the fact that they might deem amendment necessary.

The fifth reservation, on which action is yet to be taken, is expected to cause the most objection. It provides that the court shall not, without American consent, "entertain any request for an advisory opinion touching any dispute or question in which the United States has, or claims, an interest."

PEOPLE OF FAYAL LIVE IN STREETS AFTER BIG QUAKE

Casualties Undetermined; Island Reported Mass of Ruins

London, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The population of the island of Fayal in the Azores Islands, 800 miles off the coast of Portugal, is living outdoors, terror stricken after yesterday's disastrous earthquake.

In Horta, the chief city of Fayal, most of the 8,000 citizens spent the night in the public squares.

Large cracks have appeared in the streets and the people were afraid to return to their homes in the fear of renewed shocks. Most of the city was destroyed.

It has been impossible to learn the exact number of casualties which are estimated at from 50 to 400 of the island's 25,000 population.

Island Mass of Ruins

From advices thus far received the island of Fayal is declared to be "a mass of ruins."

This information was sent by the mayor of Horta. He estimated the injured at 400, but made no mention of fatalities.

Neighboring islands in the Archipelago also were affected by the disturbance.

The first shock was felt at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning. It was followed by a series of other shocks, some of them of a minor nature.

Telegraphic communication with the islands was badly hampered by the disturbance and only meager information was obtainable in Lisbon.

Greece also was shaken by a strong earthquake yesterday.

I. N. U. Team Goes Into League Lead

The I. N. U. team of the Factory Twilight baseball league, again climbed into first place last evening when they defeated the Reynolds Wire Co. by a score of 8 to 4. The Utilities crew batted in their eight runs in one inning and the wire drawers piled up their four scores in the last frame. Darkness was largely responsible for the scores on both sides, it becoming too dark to see the ball. All of the remaining games of the schedule will be called at 5:30. Tomorrow evening the Utilities team will meet the J. I. Case company nine, who are in second position in the league standing. Miller and Haupt formed the battery for the I. N. U. and Hargrave and Phalen performed for the wire screen makers.

MILITIA CALLED OUT IN TEXTILE STRIKE IN OHIO

Guard Established When Mob Attacked Police Last Evening

Manville, R. I., Sept. 1.—(AP)—National guard troops rallied into Manville on trucks today to quell rioting which culminated last night in injury to nine persons during a clash between state police and a mob of 1,800 striking operatives of the Manville-Jencks Co. textile mills.

Thirty-five men of the field artillery, accompanied by ambulance and medical corps detachments, reached the mill soon after midnight to support fourteen state police officers and deputy sheriffs who have guarded the plant since trouble started Sunday.

The trouble reached a peak last night when strikers gathered at the head of the Blackstone River bridge leading to the plant.

Crowd Rushed Police

One man starting to cross the bridge was pushed back by state police. The crowd wavered a moment, then rushed. The police met the advance with swinging sticks but were forced to retreat. Another series of rushes brought volleys from riot guns. Five strikers and sympathizers were wounded with buck shot, while Abraham Auckler, 18, of Woonsocket, a nephew of Mayor Soucy, was struck in the face by a revolver bullet fired under the heads of the crowd. He was in a crowd of spectators.

Deputy sheriff Butterfield of Providence was struck on the nose by a charge of buck shot. Lieutenant John Baird of the state police was struck in the foot and one of the state police was cut about the face and head by stones.

General Governor Small and Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom were in court. The attorney general agreed to the continuance.

"While I was disappointed that the report was not ready," he told the master in chancery, "I recognized that greater progress has been made by the defense than could have been made by calling witnesses from all the banks who paid interest."

A plan of cooperation has been made by Charles W. Hadley of my office, and Werner W. Schroeder, the governor's lawyer, that will expedite matters. I am satisfied that a continuance until October 6, will be effective, and that you will be satisfied then with the work done."

STYLES BEMUSE CITY POLICE IN CURFEW DRIVE

Unable to Tell Kids From Grownups in Enforcing Law

Chicago, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Time turned back a generation as Chicago, a sophisticated city of 3,000,000, revived the curfew of its village days, but policemen, bemused by the styles, found enforcement difficult.

All boys and girls 16 years old or under must be off the streets at 10 o'clock, the city fathers had ruled in an effort to end a long record of attacks and kidnappings, and 3,000 blue coats were sent forth last night to enforce the edict.

Then their troubles began, for they claimed that with the prevailing modes of short skirts, rolled hose and bobbed hair they were unable to distinguish children from grown ups.

Several married women were taken into custody as "children" while bewildered policemen who stopped "kids" were indignantly informed that their ages were above the curfew limit.

Although the order of the city police did not go into effect until last night, the county curfew, which applies to girls under 18 after 10:30 p. m., was sounded yesterday. More than a score of girls were caught and warned that the next time they will go to the juvenile detention home. Their parents were notified.

Parks were ordered cleared at 10 p. m., and county highway officers patrolled country roads and lovers' lanes.

Horse Trading Picks Up in Galesburg Mart

Galesburg, Ill., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Trade in horses is picking up since the summer slump, say officers of the Galesburg Horse & Mule company which holds an auction sale here every Thursday and Friday. Buyers from eastern cities predominate at the weekly sales at the local barns and their demands lately have been for heavy horses ranging in weight from 1800 to 2000 pounds. Horses of this type bring the best prices.

The local horse market is the largest of its kind in the world, officers of the company claim. Buyers scour the entire west to secure the hundreds of animals that are auctioned off here each week.

FOUR DECATUR YOUTHS, DRIVING STOLEN AUTO, CAPTURED WHEN THEY RAN THROUGH ROCHELLE

(Telegraph Special Service.)

Oregon, Sept. 1.—Officers from Decatur have returned to that city with four young men who were captured on the streets of Rochelle Friday afternoon by Chief of Police Ambrose Hodges after a spectacular chase. The quartette were passengers in a stolen Chrysler touring car and had failed to stop when requested by others, before encountering the chief. At the corner where traffic turns north on the Lincoln Highway, Chief Hodges ordered the driver to stop and his request was not obeyed. The chief jumped on the running board and forced the driver to proceed to the police station.

There were six young men in the car, but two of whom proved to be hikers who had been picked up on the Lincoln Highway between Ashton and Rochelle. The quartette stopped earlier in the afternoon at an Ashton garage to have repairs made to the stolen car which they were driving and are alleged to have stolen some tools belonging to the mechanic. Shortly after their departure the loss was discovered and Rochelle police were notified and stopped the car.

Fine Corn Weather in Most Parts of State

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Fine corn weather favored most Illinois farmers most of last week, the weather bureau crop bulletin said today.

"There was practically no rain prior to Sunday," the bulletin said. "This, together with warm weather and ample sunshine, was very favorable for corn and for the resumption of threshing. There are practically no dry areas now. Corn made excellent progress but it is still late.

"Some early crops were permanently hurt in the south half of the state. Meadows have improved since the rains. Farmers are busy with plowing operations. Cotton bolls are opening but there is too much rank growth of plants. Peaches are plentiful. The main apple harvest in the west central commercial area will begin next week."

"THRILL" SLAYERS MAY BE PAROLED IN A FEW YEARS

Clabaugh, Supervisor of Paroles, Discovers "Situation"

Chicago, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Attention was directed again today at Chicago's greatest criminal case when it became known that existing statutes might be construed as permitting the parole from Joliet of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb when they had served eleven years and three months.

The legal twist under which the "thrill" slayers of Bobby Franks might be freed in 1935 was brought to the attention of State's Attorney Crowe by Hinton G. Clabaugh, newly appointed state supervisor of paroles. The Chicago slayers were sentenced by Judge Caverly to serve 99 years for kidnapping Franks and were given life terms for murdering the youth, but Mr. Clabaugh's investigation indicated that the sentences run concurrently. Judge Caverly did not specify that the sentences should run either concurrently or consecutively unless otherwise specified.

This, Clabaugh said, would mean that Leopold and Loeb would be eligible for parole at the end of 20 years and three months if the life sentence is considered the longer, or 33 years if the 99-year term is held the longest.

With time off for good behavior and the merit system of awards, Leopold and Loeb might automatically become eligible for freedom in 11 years and 3 months from the date of their commitment.

"Of course, I don't want to be misunderstood," Mr. Clabaugh said. "You may be sure that as long as I have anything to do with the pardoning or paroling of Leopold and Loeb, they will be required to stay in the penitentiary for the maximum years possible."

FAME AND FORTUNE SMILE ON YOUNG SHIP-MODEL BUILDERS

U. S. Bureau Crowns Achievements of Boys Who Build Miniature Ocean-Going Steamers.

ONLY a few years ago Roscoe and Wallace Good, of Pasadena, California, like countless other American boys, were spending many hours of play in floating chip-and-mathtick boats in any body of water that was available from a puddle to lake or river.

Today a ship model just completed by these two boys has been accepted by the United States Steamboat Inspection Service, a Bureau of the United States Department of Commerce, as one of the features of its exhibit at the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition. As builders of ship models for a number of the country's largest ship operators, the boys' annual business amounts to thousands of dollars a year.

The First Model

The interest of the Good brothers in constructing miniature ships to conform in every detail with actual sea-going vessels was aroused during the closing days of the World War, when throughout the United States there rang a cry for ships and still more ships to carry men, munitions and supplies to the War Zone. Their first built-to-scale model was a Skinner and Eddy type freighter constructed from a plan in a marine publication. Other built-to-scale models followed.

Such models are ordinarily built, at a cost running from $2,000 to $10,000, by experts of long experience. Infinite care, exactitude and patience are required for their construction. The builders work from the plans and sketches used by the builders of the ship itself.

It frequently takes six months to complete a single model.

The first models constructed by the two youngsters aroused the interest of friends of the family; and, most important of all from the standpoint of the boys' future, the interest of a West Coast ship owner. Impressed by the graceful lines of the diminutive vessels and the painstaking attention to the most minute details, the ship owner gave the youthful builders an order for a model of a vessel then under construction.

A Unique Ship Yard

Similar orders were received from other ship operators. The boys' workshop became a veritable shipyard from which were turned out small-scale replicas of some of the finest vessels in the United States Merchant Marine. Their stone and sweet clover in increasing corn yields will be shown.

Results last year on the Mt. Morris Experiment Field conducted by the University of Illinois showed that the plot receiving limestone and sweet clover yielded 30 bushels per acre more than the plot receiving no treatment.

Delightful Afternoon With Mrs. J. M. Lund

The members of Dixon Relief Corps, No. 215, and their friends were delightfully entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. M. Lund. About 100 enjoyed the splendid program prepared, which was as follows:

Vocal solo, in costume, by Nellie and Gladys Ortgiesen.

Reading—Eleanor Clayton.

Piano solo—Helen Harms.

Vocal solo—Mrs. Parker of Harmon.

Reading—Mrs. Raffenberg.

Clarinete solo—Howard Crews.

Reading—Miss Anna Miller of Amboy.

Vocal solo—Florabella Cheney.

Piano solo—Nelson Ortgiesen.

Each number was generously applauded and responded to by an encore.

The last was a monologue (on the members of the Corps) by Mrs. Ortgiesen and was very amusing, and her response to repeated applause was a banjo solo and song. Following the program delicious light refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed. A vote of thanks is due Mrs. Lund for the delightful afternoon spent at her home.

Dinner Honored Bride of Today

Last evening at the Colonial Inn at Grand Detour a dinner was given honoring Miss Lucile Beard who this morning became the bride of Ernest Swarts. Twelve guests were entertained at dinner followed by an evening spent in five hundred the hostesses for the happy event being Mesdames David James, Richard Bovey, and the Misses Julia Ford and Olive Boda. The decorations were beautiful garden flowers, the gladioli being especially lovely. At five hundred Miss Edith Ayres was awarded the first favor, while Miss Beard won the consolation favor and was also presented with a dainty guest favor. After five hundred the guest of honor was delightfully surprised with a handkerchief shower. The entire evening proved one of exceptional pleasure to all attending. Miss Beard and Mr. Swarts were married this morning in Grand Detour.

The improvement will cost about $150,000.

Beautiful Wedding at St. Peter's Church

A beautiful wedding was solemnized this morning at St. Peter's church at Grand Detour. Father George Carlson Story, rector of St. Luke's Episcopal church in Dixon reading the marriage service. At 8 o'clock, the hour of the service, the quaint old stone church was filled with relatives and intimate friends of the bride and bridegroom. The bride, Miss Lucile Beard, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Beard, 803 East Third street, and the bridegroom, Ernest Swarts, is the son of Mrs. Ella Swartz of Route 1.

The church had been beautifully decorated for the occasion with garden flowers, a profusion of gladioli being used with palms and ferns.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attended by Miss Lucile Calhoun of Ottawa, Ill., a life-long friend of the bride, and the bridegroom was attended by his brother, Donald Swarts, as best man.

The petite bride was beautifully gowned in an ensemble in the new shade of tan satin, and her bouquet was of bride's roses. The bridegroom wore a lovely green satin ensemble and carried pink roses.

Miss Julia Ford, accompanied by Mrs. William Covert at the organ, sang sweetly "I Love You Truly" by Carrie Jacobs Bond, and as the bridal party assumed their places Mrs. Covert played the old yet ever new Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin.

At the conclusion of the ceremony and the congratulations, a wedding breakfast was served at the Colonial Inn at Grand Detour, the dining room being fragrant with lovely garden flowers for the occasion. The bride and bridegroom then left in their car for an extended trip through northern Wisconsin and Minnesota.

After September 15th they will be at home at 1712 Melrose street, Rockford, where the bridegroom has furnished a home. He is advertising manager for the Greenley Mfg. Co., and is a most estimable and progressive young man with hosts of friends in Dixon. His bride is a winsome young woman, with charming attributes of mind and character. She attended the University of Illinois for several terms and numbers her friends by her acquaintances. All

Join in wishing the young couple every happiness.

The guests from out-of-town were: C. A. Beard of DeKalb, grandfather of the bride Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Beard of Racine, Wis., and Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Pearl of Clinton, Iowa.

A WOMAN'S DAY ABROAD

BY ALLENE SUMNER.

Venice Italy.—One of the greatest outdoor sports of the woman tourist is to take a post before one of the vast French or Italian cathedrals, and watch the members of her own sex ejected from the church, or refused entrance, because of too short a sleeve or too bare a neck, or too short a skirt.

The pastime may not be especially saintly, but few of "us travelers" can resist the fun of watching the utter blank bewilderment of a school-ma'am from Kalamazoo, who has ever been a leader of the young and a light in the community, forcibly restrained from entering St. Mark's because the sleeve of her "best taffeta" descends only a fraction of an inch below the elbow rather than to the wrist.

Remonstrance threatens entreaties, even that powerful phrase "American citizen" avail naught.

Uniformed gendarmes, policemen of the church, stand in almost solid phalanxes before St. Mark's, Santa Croce or Florence Milan Cathedral, and even before the smaller churches scrutinizing each female who advances. The gendarmes carry weapons of force, huge staffs to be used, if necessary.

Sometimes a conference is held as to the eligibility for entrance of a signorina. There seems no set rule as to so many permissible inches of bare throat or arms. One satisfies the sense of fitness of the particular policeman who scrutinizes one, or one does not.

I have seen women with sleeves below their elbows refused cathedral admission, and the next moment have seen girls with sleeves above the elbow permitted entrance.

Sometimes the vigilant eye is averted as a bare-throated damsel enters. But what a furor when she emerges and they see what has happened!

Some of the smaller churches are more lenient and are ready with a supply of coarse crash toweling, a la dresser scarves, which are doled out to the erring sister to drape over her bare arms.

Bare arms seem the prime offense. Some cathedrals have different demands for the foreigner and home women. They demand longer skirts of the former but permit bare arms which must be covered by their own women.

The "Scala Santa" or "Sacred Stairway" at Rome, for instance, up whose long flight of steps the devout crawl step by step on their knees, for the promise of a lessened stay in purgatory for self and loved ones, permits fairly short sleeves on foreign women. A placard in several languages, however, cautions all women against pulling down their skirts as they crawl on bruised and sore knees from step to step. Tiny little girls and shaking white-haired women clutch fearfully at their skirts as they toil upward.

Some of the church's attitude toward dress, overflows into secular life. In Florence, we saw two sleek, well-groomed men in ice cream trousers and striped silk sport shirts ejected from a street car for wearing no coats.

The men, Germans, could not understand the commotion of the motor-car conductor, and a train crew, recruited from another car, until the rabble of perspiring, greasy-coated natives pulled at their own coats, pointing in shame at the Italian trains.

One is fined in the Italian trains for putting shoes on seats, with the result that a compartment for eight is thronged on a hot day with about six pairs of shoeless feet. Happy he who reads with no imagination.

An American honeymoon couple were fined 20 lire for sitting in our compartment with shoes perched on the edge of the opposite bench. The conductor grabbed their passports, and would not return them until the sum, and more, was paid.

So you who may travel abroad, bring plenty of scarves with you to wear in churches with your short-sleeved dresses, and travel with shoes off and not on.

IN NEW YORK

New York —See-sawing up and down Broadway I saw Marcus Loew, and unimposing figure in a straw hat and grey Palm Beach suit. Managing, somehow, to look cooler than the dripping crowd in a Broadway lobby. Surrounded by the usual horde of hangers-on that trail the successful and important. Like most men of great wealth and power, he is unassuming. He attracts not one-tenth the attention given an over-dressed, soft looking young man who recently began to get by in the movies who thinks, no doubt, that he must affect artificial mannerisms to keep in the limelight.

See Buster Collier almost anywhere nowadays with one of the McCarthy Twins, who dance most pleasingly in a revue. And 'tis said Buster is smitten most sorely.

But which twin is it, I dare not say. And how a young man chooses between twins is another mystery I cannot fathom. I know merely that it's the one billed as Dorothy.

Saw a young lady employe in one of the most popular "quick and hasty" cafes carefully selecting her lunch and adding the cost the while. And learned from her the amusing news that the employe of such places in Manhattan are rationed out food according to their time of service. Thus, if they have worked a year they may eat $1 worth free. And so on up.

Passing the city's largest department store at the hour of 8:30 in the morning, heard the sound of voices and saw a crowd gathered about. And it seems that thrice weekly the entire personnel of the store is lined up and put to singing "moral songs." The words of which tell how they love their work, and how loyal they will be, and all that sort of thing. Which makes me more and more to think how little removed from Main Street we are after all.

Note that the foyer of the Algonquin Hotel, once claimed as exclusive stamping ground by the Manhattan inner circle of intelligentsia, has now surrendered—like most other places, peoples and things, to the film invaders.

Now the lobby and tables alike at noon-hour are cluttered by blasé young scribbles who write columns, fan-magazine articles and such. While press agents buzz loosely about, unbothered by either conscience or police. And stars and near-stars appear from time to time when it seems most favorable. Quite the center of cinema affairs in this city it is now.

Furs now burden the windows of Fifth Avenue shops as we blunder along through the heat mopping our brow. And when the blizzards are blowing us from the sidewalk they will be showing straw hats and sport blazers.

Ten stockinged girls within two blocks on Broadway. And nobody paying particular attention. But everyone looked around at the girl who wore a heavy cloth coat with a fur collar.

And other things too numerous to mention.

MEMORIAL PARK HOUSE IS GIVEN BY McALLISTER

Sycamore Tribune Has Account of Dedication Last Sunday

Sycamore Tribune—Sunday last may justly be called the dedication day of the beautiful bungalow built by W. M. McAllister in memory of his wife who so recently was taken from our midst by death. All day long visitors looked it over; all day long visitors availed themselves of broad veranda and the beautiful rustic furniture placed there for the convenience of the public.

The building fronts the bathing pool which was enjoyed by a great throng of bathers all day long. This veranda extends the entire length of the building and is broad enough to accommodate any ordinary number of visitors. At the north end of the building a handsome pergola has been built.

The interior is arranged into a living room, two bedrooms, bath and kitchen to be occupied by the caretaker, Mr. C. Garner and his family. This living room extends two thirds across the front and has at the south end a brick fireplace. French doors open upon the veranda which is 36 feet long and 18 feet wide and is for the enjoyment of the public.

Mr. Garner has furnished his apartment very tastefully. The living room and the porch belonging to the public are furnished with comfortable and pretty hickory furniture. In the living room alone there have been placed 13 chairs, two tables, pictures and artistic rugs. The porch contains nine chairs for the out of door guests to use.

Glazed flower cretonne is used at all of the windows which are cheerful as well as attractive. The walls are tinted in a rich yellow tan with a cluster of ceiling electric lights to correspond. The porch is also generously lighted. This loving gift will prove of enduring pleasure to the public, young and old. B. J. Nelson is the contractor.

Announcement

Once again I am starting a new industry for the benefit of this community.

It may be remembered way back when the complicated electrical systems on "autos" were in vogue I was the first one in Lee Co. to establish a Service Station to care for those systems. That was on September 15, 1917.

Again in the winter of 1921-22 I experimented in Radio and was the first one in Dixon to build the now well known Freed-Eisemann sets.

I am still ready to render service on autos and radio repair, in addition I am now fully equipped and have an experienced plater to assist me in

TERMS TO FRANCE ARE GENEROUS.

In a statement in which he asserts that no other creditor of France has accorded such generous treatment, Secretary Mellon puts a new face on the proposed settlement of the French obligations. He says that by the terms agreed to by the United States the "war" debt has been erased and that this government is seeking to collect a sum equal only to indebtedness incurred since the date of the armistice.

General approval of the terms arranged for war debt settlements has been voiced by the people of this nation. The war was costly in men and money but Americans are thankful that there were no shells bursting on their soil. In that frame of mind they have been willing that concessions should be made to the debtor nations that had been associated with them in the field. They have trusted the agents of the United States government to make the best and the fairest settlement possible.

Terms of settlement of the French debt to Great Britain recently have been agreed upon. These have been published by the French with an unfavorable comparison with terms accepted by the United States. This incident brought out the statement of Secretary Mellon:

"America has canceled the obligations of France for all advances during the war, and France, in the Mellon-Berenger agreement, has undertaken only to repay the advances and obligations subsequent to the armistice. No other creditor of France has accorded such generous treatment.

"The settlement of the French obligation to America has been made along somewhat different lines from the settlement of French obligations to Great Britain. With the British, banking advances and commercial obligations for war stocks have been treated separately from the war debt proper. If, however, we compare the settlement of her indebtedness to America, France has had generous treatment from us. Particularly is this true during the first five years, which will be most difficult for France.

"The American settlement with France embraces all of France's indebtedness, and represents, in the opinion of the American commission, France's ability to pay. For obligations incurred by France to America after the war ended, France owes us today $1,655,000,000. The present value of the entire French-American settlement, at the rate of interest carried in France's existing obligations, is $1,681,000,000."

The Mellon statement is one that will be difficult for the French to discredit. Cancellation of the war debt has been in the minds of European nations. That, in effect, is what they get in France. That nation is held to its obligation incurred after fighting ceased.

A STORY OF A GIRL OF TODAY

MAMIE'S TRAGEDY

"What are you crying about, Mamie?" I asked. "Surely now that you have everything that you want and have been able to borrow twenty-five thousand dollars from Buddy for your musical education, you ought to be happy that he's gone back to New York. You told me just the other day you were afraid to have him stay here."

"Yes, I know," answered Mamie, trembling. "I suppose I should be very thankful that he has gone, but Judy, while Buddy has gone, his wife is staying on here."

"What's that you're saying?" "I say Mr. Robert Tremaine has gone to New York, but his wife has decided to stay here indefinitely. The night before he left Buddy told me that they had the worst quarrel they ever had in their lives."

"You see, Mamie," he said, "I have never quarrelled with my wife to any extent. She never seemed to care upon how many women I showered my attentions, provided I gave her plenty of money and let her do about as she wished. You, my dear, are the only woman she has ever honored with her jealousy. Since we've been in Chicago some of her dear catty friends have told her that you were here and she accused me of following you."

"Of course, Mamie dear, I would have followed you if I had known where you were, but I did not and I got very angry because she would not believe me."

"But, Buddy," I told him, "said Mamie, 'You told her the truth. I ran away from you and came to Chicago. Did you tell her that?'"

"Yes," he exclaimed. "And I explicitly told her that if she would stop long enough to think logically, in

NEW INDUSTRY OF BIFFING NOW IN GREAT CONDITION

So Many Promoters in the State "Fathers" to Call a Halt

Chicago—(AP)—After a few months of operation under the edicts and regulations of the Illinois biff commission, the new industry of glove fighting finds itself in a flourishing state, and the unemployment situation among the ringsters has been alleviated by the activity of the various clubs in promoting shows almost nightly. The boxing fathers were slow in getting started after the law was enacted, but once they got the machinery oiled up and ready to go, they were not slow in awarding licenses to responsible promoters. Other municipalities where the boxing game is lawful may have to be content with one show a month, but in Chicago, the fight hungry fans have a chance to see the boys nudge each other with their upholstered fists every night in the week, with the exception of Sunday.

The battles raged unceasingly on all fronts until the commission recently called a halt. Hereafter promoters will be granted a license but once a month instead of every ten days. Several reasons were given for this action. The boxing oars were piled up with applications for permits, and wanted to give everybody a show for their money, and in addition the boxing staff was overtaxed, because the commission has not yet dipped its bill into the "take off" or state tax derived from the gate receipts. The commissioners and others connected with the sport have been practically donating their services.

Before the advent of boxing those who wished to see athletes in violent combat had to be satisfied with grunting and squealing of the strong boys from the safety match centers of Europe in their wrestling tournaments. The wrestlers drew good crowds, but boxing has proven a strong magnet. The turnouts indicate that the Chicagoans have fallen for the new racket, but even so there has been no need of rubber stands. The largest crowd attended a show at Cubs Park, but there were plenty of seats.

Promoters are not worrying if their gladiators do not show up, as the ringside is crowded with lads ready to jump in and substitute. At Jim Mullin's show if a preliminary boy meets with disaster early in the affair, an emergency bout is tossed in to make good the promise of forty rounds of milling.

The public is quickly learning to distinguish a journeyman fighter by his facial characteristics, but there are exceptions, as in the case of Fidel LaBarba, the Los Angeles midweight, who looks like the young brother of the man in the collar ads.

Baseball fans in St. Louis are so enthused over the doings of the Cardinals that they are unwilling to wait for the official closing of the straw hat season. Hundreds of straw hats have been thrown away and busted in the last few days during the crucial series between the Pirates and Cardinals. The fans get excited and throw their hats out on the field, sometimes delaying the game while the lids are gathered up.

Wester Bell, the Cardinals infielder, certainly hitting the ball hard and taking his share in the hot pennant race. He got three blows in the first game against the Pirates, one being a homer. In the second he helped the Cardinals put across the runs which gave them the game by injecting a sacrifice hit in the seventh inning rally.

Brennan Main Speaker at Aurora Fair Today

Aurora, Ill., Sept. 1.—(AP)—George E. Brennan, campaigning as the party's candidate for the United States senator was the principal speaker today on the Democrat Day program of the Central States Fair.

The plea which he had for the fair crowd was for a consideration of his own record on major issues in contrast with that of the republican aspirant, Frank L. Smith.

The speech was chiefly concerned with the issues of Volstead Act modification and farm relief.

WILD UPHEAVAL HITS BATTLERS IN NAT. LEAGUE

It's Surely Anyone's Race for Teams in First Division

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The St. Louis Cardinals were strutting ahead of the crowd in the National League today the Pittsburgh Pirates having been crowded from first to third place.

The wildest upheaval of a week yesterday saw the Pirates beaten twice by the Cardinals. Cincinnati shunted into second place ahead of Pittsburgh and Chicago drawn a step closer to the top. The Cardinals today had a three point margin over Cincinnati and four over Pittsburgh. Chicago was 35 points back.

In the first game of the double bill at St. Louis, Sherdel held the Pirates to seven hits while his mates clouted Meadows offerings for six runs.

The Pirates were paralyzed by Sothoron's spit ball in the second. They got only three hits and lost 2-1.

Jones Beat Reds.
Chicago shut out Cincinnati 1-0, Jones holding the Reds to two hits. Cooney's double and a single by Gonzales produced the run in the ninth.

In the American League the lead of the New York Yanks dropped to five and one half games when Philadelphia trimmed them 8-6, while Cleveland was taking a 12 inning contest from St. Louis 6-5. With Philadelphia in New York for six more games, Yank rooters are feeling nervous, since Cleveland, in second place, is playing good ball.

Chicago and Detroit split a double-header. Chicago in the first game hammered four pitchers for 23 hits to win 19-2. Detroit took the second 7-6. Stanley Coveleskie shut Boston out 2-0. His double with Judge's triple gave Washington the victory in 78 minutes of play.

The champion was so well satisfied with his condition that he figured today's layoff would put him on edge for the resumption of work tomorrow. When training is resumed tomorrow, Marty Burke, a New Orleans light heavy weight will be ready for work with Dempsey. Burke picks Dempsey to defeat Tunney. Burke boxed Tunney twice.

Tunney and Dempsey Will Meet This Eve

Tunney will be here en route to his new training camp at Stroudsburg, Pa.

Ready for Opening of Bowling Season Here

Manager Otto Peters of the Pastime bowling alleys announced today the opening of the bowling season in Dixon. The alleys have undergone a thorough renovating, having been redressed and resurfaced and are now in the best condition in years. Some new improvements have been added which promise to make the alleys much faster. Dixon bowlers will have a month in which to practice on the alleys, the regular bowling leagues not being formed until Oct. 1 when the active season opens.

Watch Elimination!

Good Health Depends Upon Good Elimination.

RETENTION of bodily waste in the blood is called a "toxic condition." This often gives rise to a dull, languid feeling and, sometimes, toxic backaches and headaches. That the kidneys are not functioning properly is often shown by burning or scanty passage of secretions. Thousands have learned to assist their kidneys by drinking plenty of pure water and the occasional use of a stimulant diuretic. 50,000 users give Doan's signed endorsement. Ask your neighbor!

WET WEATHER IS GOOD FOR RICE FARM, GALESBURG

Not Necessary to Use Irrigation Pumps This Summer

Galesburg, Ill. Sept. 1.—(AP)—Three Galesburg men who have a total of 10,000 acres planted in rice in the Mississippi river bottoms near Elsberry, Mo., and Lewistown, Ill., are probably the only farmers in this section of the state who are not bemoaning the usual wet spell in August. While corn, wheat and other crops were damaged by the rain, the rice is thriving under it and it is not necessary to use the irrigation pumps as much as usual in the summer months.

The water is to be drained off the rice fields about the first of September and rice binders will be put in the fields the middle of the month to harvest the crop. Threshing starts around October 1. The rice is sold to mill owners in southern cities and is prepared for market at the rice mills there.

Alvin V. Rowe, manufacturer here who is a pioneer in the rice raising experiment in Illinois, is enthusiastic over the possibilities of this staple as a money-making crop this far north. He says the land, which is also good for corn and wheat, yields a much better profit in rice. Northern fields, says Mr. Rowe, produce on an average of nearly three bushels to the acre more than those of southern states. Rice produced in the north, he declares is of a better quality than the southern variety. The longest head on his rice farms runs about 11-12 inches while seven inches is considered a good head in the south, he asserts.

Other Galesburg men besides Mr. Rowe who have joined the ranks of rice raisers in this state are C. C. Craig, banker and former member of the Illinois supreme court, and Lafayette Weinberg, wholesale fruit dealer.

VALUES SOCIETY OF HUSBAND AT $5500 A MONTH

Architect's Wife Says So in Suit Filed Against Dancer

Chicago, Sept. 1.—(AP)—A value of $5500 a month is placed by Miriam Noel Wright on the society of her husband, Frank Lloyd Wright, celebrated architect.

She has brought suit here for $100,000 damages against Olga Milanoff, Russian dancer, charging that for eighteen months she has been deprived of her husband's companionship and entrance to their home due to the dancer's influence.

Since Dec. 1924, Wright has ceased to love her, Mrs. Wright declared in her bill, her latest legal move since she was barred from Talliesen Wright's villa near Spring Green, Wis. early in June.

At that time she charged that Miss Milanoff was in the house and in the alienation suit she asserted that the dancer persuaded Wright to oust her from Talliesen and by "false representations contrived to keep her away" from the home.

Alleges There's Child
The suit charged that Wright was father of a child which she alleged was born to her in Chicago, Dec. 1, 1925. In a declaration accompanying her suit, she spoke of the loss of "the comfortable fellowship, love, affection society and assistance" of her husband which she attributed to the dancer's "youth, feminine charm and attractions, insidious and persistent wiles and machinations."

Wright, in a statement at Spring Green, called the suit "merely another move in Madame Noel's campaign to annoy and harass me. My deepest regret is that an innocent woman must be the victim of these calumnies."

He declined to reveal the present whereabouts of Miss Milanoff and declared that his wife's move likely will mean that the $125 a month, he said he now was paying Mrs. Wright would be cut off dependent upon his attorney's advice.

"Don Juan," screen play by Bess Meredith, starring John Barrymore, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS
His father's warning—"Take some love scornfully—and forget—has made Juan the world's greatest lover. His cynicism is checked by Madonna-like Adriana Varanese; loving her, he reforms, but incurs the enmity of infamous Lucretia Borgia, who loves him, and Donati, her kinsman, who covets Adriana. Circumstances destroy Juan's faith in Adriana. Cynical again, he becomes the lover of Lucretia. To save her father, Adriana marries Donati, but Juan kills Donati and is thrown into a dungeon by Lucretia, who hopes to break his spirit. Juan, despite himself, dreams of Adriana—

Her glance had been a caress, heavier laden with love than the kisses of many women.
And yet—yet there she had been with Donati, in her bed chamber, that night when he went to her. How frightened she had been, how determined to protect her lover! A faithless thing, like all other women. If only he could forget her!
His thoughts held him so closely that when the door of his cell was opened he did not at first realize what had happened. Then he looked up slowly, without interest. The keeper of the prison stood there, and as he stepped aside, a veiled woman took his place.
She moved down to the first of the two steps leading from the door to the cell; the hem of her dark cloak fell to the step below, its edge trailing in the water.
She ordered the door closed behind her, threw back her veil, and stood for a moment looking at Juan. Her eyes filled with tears; then, as he stared back at her, apparently with no thought of coming to her, they grew cold and angry.

Briefly she gave the keeper the order for Juan's execution.
"Come here!" she exclaimed, holding out her hand.
Juan's every deliberate movement was an insult, as he slowly crossed the cell, stood for a moment looking at her hand, then lifted it to his lips and barely touched it, as if it were repulsive to him.
He dropped her hand and glanced up at her, as if to ask what else she commanded him to do.
Her voice trembled when she spoke.
"Your rashness has cost you dear, Don Juan!" she exclaimed. A mocking smile drifted across his face.
She hesitated a moment before she spoke again. Then, as if she had only that moment thought of it, she said:
"Your freedom shall be a gift from me, if you are capable of an equal generosity."
Juan smiled again, shrugged his shoulders, answered her in mock humility.
"Generosity has never been a trait of mine, my lady," he replied. Lucretia stared at him in amazement, not believing that she had heard aright. For a moment incredulity held her anger in leash; she looked at him blankly.
Could it be possible that he was refusing her even before he knew what she asked?
"You—would refuse?" she asked, almost bewildered. "I am offering you your life. Think what that means! To go out again into the world, to have whatever you wish—whatever you wish," she repeated slowly, knowing that he would understand.
Juan smiled, wearily. Whatever he wished! If she could have given back his faith in Adriana, could have restored to him the ecstasy of the moments he had spent with her in the little garden beside the church, that would have meant something. But now—no, there was nothing she could give him that would be worth having.
Curious, when so often he had faced death and defied it, that now, when he sought it, it eluded him! She stood looking at him as if she had never seen him before. She was asking herself what had

DETERMINATION Hal Cochran's DAILY POEM
If you really decide you can clean up a task, you can go right ahead, then, and do it. Cause where is the fellow who falls down, I ask, when he makes up his mind to go to it?
There are too many people, the whole world around, who spend most of their best time at fretting. Instead of labor, they're generally found at thinkin' 'bout where they are gettin'.

The man who comes walkin' ahead of the crowd, is naturally known as the worker. Of course he has reason to feel much more proud than the fellow who's really a shirker.
The worry and wonder that most people do are things quite disastrous, you'll find. One key to success, that helps carry you through, is the strength to just make up your mind.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

MRS. PRENTISS sees mysterious lights in the Heath house, holds next door one night and the next day Harbor Gardens, Long Island, is again over the murder of MYRA HEATH and the disappearance of her husband, PERRY.

House guests of the Heaths are LAWRENCE INMAN, heir to Myra's fortune, and BUNNY MOORE, beautiful, vivacious, to whom suspicion points because of her strange actions.

Myra Heath never used cosmetics, never wore colors, yet when her body was found she was heavily rouged. She was a collector of glass, and it was a rare old bottle from her collection that the murderer used to kill her. Candles were burning at her head and feet; nearby was a card marked, "The Work of Perry Heath."

The strange thing about Heath's disappearance is that the windows and doors were locked on the inside the night before and were found that way in the morning. Fingerprints of Bunney and Inman were found on the bottle.

At the County Club the murder is discussed by SAM ANDERSON, Heath's rival for the club presidency; AL CUNNINGHAM, who is trying to solve the crime, and others. Meanwhile, TODD HUNTER, Mrs. Prentiss' nephew, has met Bunney and fallen in love with her.

Bunney is amazed to get a phone call from Heath. He phones her again, saying Inman is the murderer. Bunney faints under a grilling by DETECTIVE MOTT, and Inman confides to Buck that he saw Bunney ascending the stairs after the murder. Mott questions all the servants and tells them to keep quiet.

Anderson invites Cunningham to his house and there, while waiting for his host, Cunningham is suddenly confronted by Perry Heath, who disappears as mysteriously as he had appeared. Shortly afterward Anderson comes in and he reproaches Cunningham for letting Heath escape.

Buck, meantime, is determined to clear Bunney. He resolves to have a good talk with her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXVI

AND then the object of Toddy's anxious thought came and seated herself on a low chair beside his own. So softly had she come, that he had not heard her presence until he heard her soft, low voice saying: "Mrs. Prentiss bid me come and talk to you for a few minutes before I go to my room."

"I'm glad to have you," he said, speaking quietly, too, and involuntarily laying his hand on the little one that rested on his chair arm.

Bunney looked up at him, her eyes of "windflower blue" dimly visible in the faint light that glimmered from the doorway.

"You are very good to me," she said, with a sad little sigh. "You and your aunt both. But I wish I could go home."

"I wish you could!" exclaimed Tod, his hand tightening its clasp on her own.

"Why do you speak like that? You frighten me!" she exclaimed, for his tone had been emphatic.

"I am frightened about you," he murmured. "Tell me, Bunney, tell me, dear, do you trust me?"

"Yes," she said, and her voice was clear and frank. There was no trace of coyness or shyness. It was as if soul spoke to soul, and with his power of reading the intent of an other's words, Buck believed her.

He turned to face her more fully. "Do you know you are in danger? Grave danger?"

"I suppose I am. But what can I do? I am very much alone—"

Her voice quivered and tears came into the blue eyes.

"No," Buck declared, "you are not alone. You have two staunch friends beneath this roof and one of us, at least, would die for you."

This was dangerously close to melodrama, but was saved therefrom by Toddy's obvious earnestness and the ringing note of affection in his tone.

But Bunney shuddered. "Don't mention death," she said, "we've had enough of that for the present."

"So we have," he said, "and I, too, want to avoid the subject, but if I am to help you, and Lord knows you need help, I'll have to ask you some pretty blunt questions."

"You may," Bunney said, but her voice had taken on a cold formality, almost as if she spoke to an official detective.

"Oh," Tod groaned, "don't speak to me that way, or I can't talk at all!"

The girl laughed outright. "Go on with your blunt questions," she commanded, but the laughter seemed to linger in her intonation.

Tod plucked up a morsel of courage. Surely a murderer could not laugh like that!

"When did you first see Mrs. Heath after she was dead?" he asked.

"Oh, I can't tell you that!" She gasped as if in horrified surprise, and started to rise from her chair.

"No, sit still. Don't tell me anything you don't choose to, but do—oh, Bunney, do confide in me! You must have help—I will help you. Dear heart, tell me all—all about it."

"I—I've nothing to tell," and now she spoke really coldly, and with an accent of displeasure. "I thought detectives found out the truth from clues and things, not from asking people questions."

"Both methods are used," and now Toddy was stern and grave. "So you won't help me to help you?"

"I can't—oh, I can't—don't ask me a—about it! Don't!"

Her little hands twisted themselves nervously together and one foot beat a tattoo on the porch floor.

"Well, tell me this," Buck felt he

LEGION TO URGE EVERY VOTER TO CAST HIS BALLOT

Is Convinced Something Must Be Done to Awaken People

Bloomington, Ill., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Use of the ballot box as a patriotic duty, is the message the American Legion will carry to voters through Illinois, September 21, Department Commander Scott W. Lucas, announced here Tuesday.

"The American Legion," Commander Lucas said, "is convinced that something must be done to awaken a keener sense of civic patriotism in the millions of indifferent voters and have set September 21 as the first meeting of all Pests in Illinois to thoroughly discuss and formulate tentative plans for the sole purpose of 'getting out the vote'."

The department of the American Legion of this state urgently requests that each Post Commander contact the executives and other members of the various civic, religious, patriotic, fraternal and all other organizations in your city inviting them to be present.

Let me speak in no uncertain tones that this is strictly a non-partisan movement and if it is successful it must remain so. If every patriotic yet sometimes indifferent citizen, will only realize that his present materialistic success in life is attributed chiefly to the form of Government under which he lives, I am certain that no eligible member of his family or no one who is in his employ will forget to vote.

"The American Legion is non-political, but we strongly urged that every man and woman of our organization vote their honest convictions. Intelligent use of the ballot is the foremost method in this state, or any other one, to promote better citizenship and if there is anything Illinois needs in this crucial hour, it is a rebirth in good citizenship. That will come by interesting the disinterested in voting."

Railway Taxes Mounting

The railroads are constantly seeking economies that will improve their service, reduce their rates or strengthen their earning power. That they are successful in such efforts is indicated by the fact that not merely one but all three of these important and worthwhile benefits have resulted from the notable railway economies effected in the last few years.

One item of railway expense has been going up, however, while most other items have been coming down. The taxes levied upon and collected from the railroads constitute one expense over which the railroads exercise no control, and railway taxes are increasing steadily in the face of reductions in nearly every other item of railway expense.

Going back ten years, railway taxes for 1916 amounted to approximately $430,000 a day. Every year since then they have increased over the preceding year, and for 1926 they will exceed $1,000,000 a day. In the last five years, a period of great economy in railway management and operation, the daily tax bill of the railroads has increased on the average more than $47,000 from year to year.

Not only are railway taxes constantly increasing in the aggregate, but it takes a greater portion of total railway revenues to pay them. In 1920 it took 4.4 cents out of each dollar the railroads received to pay their taxes. In 1925 it took 5.9 cents. This year, present indications are, it will take between 6 and 7 cents.

Part of the increase in railway taxes is due, of course, to somewhat increased railway earnings and to improvements which have added to the taxable value of railway property, but the greater part of the increase is the result of new taxes and of increases in state and local tax rates. More than three-fourths of all railway taxes are levied by state and local governments, and the necessity for additional money to meet principal and interest payments on indebtedness contracted by these governments has been a considerable factor in making for greatly increased railway taxes. In the six years 1920 to 1925, inclusive, state and local governments increased their debts approximately six and three-quarters billion dollars. Principal and interest payments on outstanding bonds now consume about 10 per cent of state and about 20 per cent of local government expenditures.

The railroads ask neither favored treatment in tax rates nor exemption from any part of general taxation. They are willing to pay their share of taxes. But, since they practice economy themselves with such good results, they feel it is proper to urge economy in government, which benefits everybody. Most of the taxes that are levied on railway property are also levied on farm lands and buildings, stores, manufacturing plants and other forms of private enterprise. Taxes must come out of the productive activities of the country, and they are shared, indirectly, if not directly, by everyone. The public, which pays all taxes in one form or another, is the ultimate beneficiary of all movements for tax reduction.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.
